Philippine Regulatory Commission Board Chairman for Architecture Robert Sac visited the College of Architecture and Fine Arts (CAFA) of the Manuel S. Enverga University Foundation (MSEUF), September 2.

The visit also served as inspection-consultative meeting with the dean and the faculty members from the college to check whether the college is adhering to the quality standard of the architecture curriculum.

Fresh from his visit at Batangas State University, Architect Sac paid a courtesy call to the Vice President for Academics Dr. Benilda N. Villenas. He was accompanied by the CAFA Dean Jennifer S.A. Sanchez together with Architects Christopher Mirasol and Jovelita Etcubanas, both faculty members of the college.

The inspection took place at 4:00 in the afternoon along the facilities of the college and the profile and composition of the faculty members. Architect Sac specified the numbers of classrooms including the photo-documentation laboratories that are paramount to the program.

The PRC Board Chair for Architecture clarified and underscored the significance of computer laboratories for architecture students. He said that architectural schools must cooperate and strive willingness to undergo with inspection to achieve continuous improvement and to ensure a better delivery of instruction, quality education and good performance especially in the Professional Board Examination (PRC).

Meanwhile, Architect Sanchez disclosed that the construction of the computer laboratories and other rooms for Drafting classes were included in the proposed CAFA Annex Building to be constructed in 2017.” The annex building is designed to comply with the requirements for architectural schools based on the policies, standards and guidelines issued by the Commission on Higher Education,” she said.

With good impression of Architect Sac about the University, he encouraged the faculty members to update themselves by attending the Continuing Professional Education and Professional Practice (CPEPP).
